The work carried out to attract training camps to Wales was led by the Welsh Government. The methods we used in attracting teams and countries to Wales was a combination of direct marketing (2012 brochure attached at Annex A), attendance at planned networking and sporting events, use of political and governing body sporting contacts and London Organising Committee recommendations to teams to prepare in Wales.

A copy of the report produced by the Wales Steering Group following the 2012 Games is attached at Annex B.
