Subject: Mapping UK multi-agency modern slavery partnerships

Dear Colleagues,

I hope this email finds you well!

You have been identified as a point of contact for partnership working in your area. From this position of expertise the Commissioner would be grateful if you would kindly return the attached questionnaire on multi-agency modern slavery partnerships by May 5, 2017 to claire.brickell@antislaverycommissioner@gsi.gov.uk.

This questionnaire is part of a study by the Independent Anti-Slavery Commissioner and the University of Nottingham, which aims to map UK modern slavery partnerships, develop an improved understanding of their existing role in addressing modern slavery, and identify emerging areas of promising and good practice. The research team includes Dr Claire Brickell and Tatiana Gren-Jardan of the Office of the Independent Anti-Slavery Commissioner and Dr Alison Gardner of the University of Nottingham.

The results of this questionnaire will be used to create an online map and directory of modern slavery partnerships. In conjunction with some further in-depth case study work, it will also inform a report on how local partnerships are currently being developed, and might be further improved, to support modern slavery policies. Attached is a letter of invitation, which includes more detailed information about the research.

If you have already been asked to complete and return this questionnaire please ignore this email. In the event that you believe a different contact to be more appropriate, we would be grateful if you could please pass on this email.

Please do not hesitate to get in touch if you have any questions.

Thank you in advance for your help,

Warm regards,

Dr Claire Brickell
